New generator arrives at the Forest County Law Enforcement Center

Last Wednesday, 8/19/20, the Forest County Law Enforcement Center received their new 200 KW Kohler Generator.

This generator will be replacing the old generator that struggled to keep our 911 Dispatch Center up and running during that wind storm in late July of 2019. The old generator was not capable of running the entire Law Enforcement Center and when the power went out, only ran certain “Life Safety “ aspects of the Law Enforcement Center.

Shortly after last year’s wind storm it became apparent that the existing generator would need to be replaced to prevent our Dispatch Center from going down. The Citizens and visitors of Forest County need to be able to rely on the availability to call 911 when they are in an emergency.

If we do not have a generator capable of running all aspects of our Dispatch and Law Enforcement Center then we are doing a disservice to those in need.

Once this new generator is fully installed it should be a seamless transition to power up the entire Law Enforcement Center when the power does go out.

Submitted by Jail Administrator Josh Bradley

On hand for the occasion was (l-r) Josh Bradley, Head of Maintenance Mark Rhinehart, County Clerk Nora Matuszewski and County Chair Cindy Gretzinger.

With all of the high water and flooding on and around our Forest County Lakes this summer, I'd like to offer the following guidelines and advice for people with Septic Systems.

What do I do during the flood or saturated drain-field conditions?

Do not pump any tanks or pump chambers. At best, pumping the tank is only a temporary solution. Never open any manhole covers or other openings that are under flood water. Not only is this dangerous for your personal safety, flood water and associated debris like mud and silt will enter the system and possibly back up into your home. Under worst conditions, pumping it out

Worlds Championship Off-road racing in Crandon on Labor Day Weekend

In a summer filled with unusual times and a constantly changing environment, Midwest racing fans will find solace in the news that two of their favorite events are becoming a welcome reality.

Wisconsin’s famed Crandon International Raceway today announced that both of its upcoming September off-road racing events will take place as scheduled. The state has already seen a host of race facilities open their doors to live audiences, including several large IndyCar and IMSA events at Wisconsin’s famed Road America.

Crandon International will be releasing a final 2020 COVID-19 operational plan to local law enforcement and health officials later this week, as well as sharing the comprehensive plans with fans, racers and corporate partners on its new website. Series officials in the Champ Off-Road and Ultra4 series will also be working closely with Crandon officials to ensure a solid safety plan is in place to execute all phases of the race weekends in an integrated manner.

The the 51st World Championship Off-Road Races® scheduled over Labor Day weekend will still take place on September 3rd – 5th, with the fifth annual Crandon World Cup scheduled for Sunday, September 6th. June’s rescheduled 27th Forest County Potawatomi Brush Run weekend, the traditional Midwest off-road season kick-off, will take place at Crandon’s “Big House” September 25th – 27th.

A packed field of more than 250 racers are expected at Crandon each of two weekends in September. Classes includes a wide variety of buggies, side-x-sides and trucks including the always highly competitive and entertaining Pro Lite category.

On Labor Day weekend (September 3rd – 6th) Crandon will celebrate its hosting of the 51st Crandon World Championship Off-Road Races®. Last year, a record-shattering crowd packed the “Big House” for history’s largest short-course off-road event. In addition, unlimited 4-wheel drive Ultra4 class cars will take part in two special races, with one taking place Saturday night, September 5th as the day’s finale. The world’s best Pro short-course racers will compete the next day for a Crandon World Championship title and a huge cash and prize purse on off-road racing’s biggest competition — the fifth annual Crandon World Cup.

Admission ticket, camping and grandstand reservations are still available for either or both 2020 races by visiting www.crandonoffroad.com.

SEE THE RACE SCHEDULE INSIDE ON PAGE 6 AND BE READY FOR THE 51ST OFF-ROAD RACE IN CRANDON, WHERE THE TRADITION CONTINUES.

Enjoying the waters and staying in shape!

66 cases of Covid-19 (4 active) confirmed in Forest County

Forest County Public Health officials have confirmed additional persons have been diagnosed with novel coronavirus infection (COVID-19) for a total of 66 cases in Forest County. The individuals are isolating at home. No further information will be released to protect the confidentiality of the individuals. County health officials and local partners are contacting others with whom the individuals who tested positive had close contact with. As of today, Forest County has 1,797 negative test results and 12 pending. There are currently 4 active cases in isolation, 58 released from isolation, and 4 deaths.

The Forest County Health Department encourages community members to minimize their contact with others by staying home when possible, practice physical distancing and good personal hygiene, wear a mask or cloth face covering, and stay alert for symptoms of COVID-19. If you are experiencing any symptoms or have been exposed to someone with COVID-19, please contact your health care provider and ask to be tested.

In an effort to keep our community members up to date on COVID-19, the Forest County Health Department will continue to update our Facebook page daily and local newspapers weekly with current COVID-19 case counts. This will include the number of negative and positive cases in Forest County. Please call our office at 715-478-3371 with any questions or concerns.

Crandon Public Library: Summer Reading Success

The Summer Reading Program at the Crandon Public Library was a huge success. The library awarded 15 weekly prizes and two grand prizes to patrons who participated in activities and reading logs. This year our kid's grand prize winner was William Quade. Quade read 110 children's books over the course of the 6-week summer reading program. His hard work paid off as he was the proud winner of an Andriod Tablet.

The adult winner was Valerie Wagoner, who read 9 novels in 6 weeks. Wagoner's prize was a Keurig Coffee Maker.

In total, youth patrons who participated in the summer reading program read over 1,300 children's books. Participating adult patrons read 195 novels and non-fiction books. Despite having no live programs due to COVID-19, patrons were very engaged in the drop-in activities we were able to offer.

In the coming months, the library hopes to resume regular programming such as Story Hour, Adult Craft Class, and Book Clubs, provided we can safely offer these programs. For instant updates, follow us on Facebook or visit us at www.crandonpl.org.

For Old Time's Sake

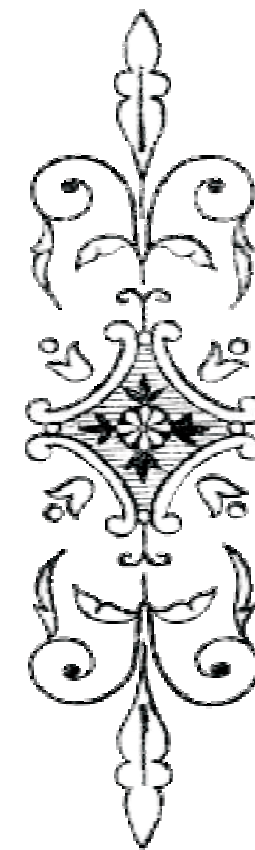

We have probably used these old pics before, but they are worth another look. The Crandon Opera House, built by Luigi Parise in 1908, was the social center of Crandon. It was huge. If you look at the two-story building on the left, you are looking at one of the buildings that is now Tricia's Treasures. The Opera House used some of the ground that is now Flowers From The Heart, and the Pioneer office is now on the right corner.

It was a grand building with a notions store on one side of the main entrance and a cafe on the other side. Rooms for rent surrounded the balcony on the 2nd floor.

It was a short-lived business venture. Fire destroyed the Opera House in February of 1912. As can be seen in the middle photo, it was a grand place to have a function. The bottom picture is the last moments of the Opera House, as the fire moved through the building. The town was very sad.

For Sale: Stove - gas LP, can be changed back, have all the parts. Excellent condition, white. Only used about 6-8 months.$200 Samsung microwave. Can be put above stove. Very large, white $100. Call 262-672-8341 or 262-930-2246. Can be seen in Crandon. P21

Thank Yous and Personals

THANK YOU

We would like to thank a group of Laona young ladies (Lilly, Grace, Malerie, Kaylyn, and Maddie) who volunteered and spent their summer Thursdays painting hydrants for the Laona Sanitary District. They did a great job under the leadership and help of Mary Thornton, an Americorp volunteer member. Also, thanks to Mike and Brenda Albrecht for donating the red paint!

Laona Sanitary District

We Would like to thank everyone for the loving, caring thoughtfulness you have shown us during this painful time of sorrow we are experiencing in the loss of our husband dad, son, grandson, brother, uncle, nephew and cousin. Troy could always make us smile and was full of love for everyone.

Thank you for all the cards, money gifts, food gifts and prayers. He will be missed and loved forever. Special thanks to Weber Hill Funeral Home for being so accommodating for us, the local Honor Guard, the Air Force Honor Guard Flowers From The Heart and Pastor Franz Gerber for making the service so memorable and last but not least, Troy's friends who shared some of their special memories.

With Love and Appreciation, The McKee Family

DNR seeks public input on water quality tandards

MADISON, Wis. - The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is beginning a public input process to determine what issues it will work on over the next three years to protect water quality in lakes, streams and rivers. This process is called the Triennial Standards Review and is required by the Clean Water Act. Topics that will be evaluated in the 2021-2023 review include policies, rules and guidance related to designated uses, water quality criteria, antidegradation and variances. This review helps the DNR focus efforts to best protect the health of Wisconsin's lakes, rivers and streams.

The review consists of several steps. First, the DNR asks for topics related to water quality standards from the public and external partners. This step is starting today. The DNR then asks the public, partners and internal staff to rank these topics and holds a public webinar to provide additional information on the topics under consideration. That step is conducted using an online survey, which is expected to be available later this fall. The DNR then prioritizes the topics based on input from the survey and prepares a final prioritized list of items to work on over the next three years. The prioritized list is expected to be completed this winter. In the last step, work begins on priority topics. This work may take several years.

Submit Topic Suggestions For The 2021-2023 Triennial Standards Review

If you have suggestions for revisions or improvements to the DNR's policies, rules and guidance related to designated uses, water quality criteria, antidegradation and variances, please complete the topic suggestion form on the DNR's website. The deadline to submit topic suggestions is September 14. The public is encouraged to share this opportunity with others who may wish to submit a topic for consideration. The DNR appreciates all input on protecting Wisconsin's water quality.

Nicolet LIR rises to challenge with robust offerings in light of COVID-19

Having faced their share of challenges over their lifetimes, members of the Learning in Retirement (LIR) program at Nicolet College knew exactly what they had to do in order to put together a safe and engaging series of fall offerings in this era of COVID-19.

It's not like the pandemic is their first rodeo. Many of them have lived through the threat of polio, several wars, times of economic collapse, and countless other challenges. It's all part of what shaped this generation that has circumnavigated the sun more than a few times.

"I guess we just did what we've always done," said Brenda Peltier, Nicolet LIR coordinator, reflecting on life in general when putting together the upcoming season. "We roll up our sleeves, face all the obstacles head on, and brainstorm solutions to get us through challenging times. We have a great team of people who are committed to making the LIR the best that it can be."

In order to keep members safe yet still engaged with LIR, just about all presentations this fall will be held online in the virtual world. In all, there will be 21 different presentations Sept. 16 through Dec. 16.

Some classes will last just a couple hours while others will meet online multiple times over the course of months. For this year only, the annual LIR member fee has been reduced to $30, and is good through June 30, 2021. Members are welcome to take as many or as few classes as they like.

To become a member, visit nicoletcollege.edu/lir or call the college at (715) 365-4593.

And as always, there will be no tests or grades in any of the classes, only learning just for the fun of it.

Members signing up for classes will be sent a Zoom link before the start of a class to join the presentation.

Upcoming classes include the ever-popular Ced's Nature series from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Wednesdays Sept. 16 to Oct. 28. In all there will be six different topics covered which include a look at swans, beaver ecology, wild turkeys, the life cycle of a forest, bird migration, and birds of prey.

Other LIR presentations include:

--Genealogy and DNA Primer from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 24. Participants will learn where to start and what documentation you need to build your family tree. From there we'll explore the best practices for researching and documenting your genealogy using information available mainly on the Internet.

--Is a Happy Mushroom a Fun Guy? from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Monday, Oct. 5. Learn about those mysterious mushrooms of all shapes and sizes that pop up in our yards and forests. Anne Small, coordinator of the Northstate Mycological Club, will give you information on fungi and mushroom biology and explain their place in the Northwoods.

--ArtStart Fall Exhibit: Andrea Carlson & Andy Messerschmidt 10 to 11:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 16. There will be two tour choices and this will be the only offering with the option of attending in-person. A virtual tour option will also be available. For more details, contact Peltier at bpeltier@nicoletcollege.edu or call (715) 365-4491.

- Sigils for Travelers of I-94 with Andrea Carlson. Drawing on her Ojibwe heritage, Carlson creates images that "celebrate the joy of Indigenous people found in places that we've made for ourselves, in places that were necessitated because of our exclusion elsewhere." The exhibition title incorporates the Latin meaning of Sigil—medicine or poison and the space along Interstate highway 94.

- Shooting Buffalo with Andy Messerschmidt. As part of Andy Messerschmidt's 900-plus piece Agrocult series, this exhibition's focus is on the "anthropological cataclysm of the agrocults". The artist's work asks the viewer to review and evaluate the many changes brought upon the land by humankind.

Due to COVID-19, ArtStart staff will introduce the exhibits and be available for questions. Please follow social distancing requirements and masks are required during the in-person tour. No refreshments will be offered.

Old Age Ain't for Sissies, Part 2, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 27. There were so many good questions asked in Dr. Bill Wright's first class on this topic that time ran out, and participants asked to have a second session. Attendance at the first class is not a prerequisite for attending this session. Dr. Wright is an inspiring individual and has many good insights into the aging process.

--Civil Discourse with Jane Banning, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 1. This non-partisan, non-political class is about ways to connect, understand, and have civil conversations when it seems there are no paths through the thickets. Pick up some fundamental skills in how to converse with people with whom you disagree.

For the complete list of upcoming offerings and descriptions, visit nicoletcollege.edu/lir.

Ruffed Grouse West Nile Virus test results now available

Editor's Note: A previous version of this press release incorrectly stated the number of grouse in each sample set as a percentage.

MADISON, Wis. - The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has received the 2019 test results from the second year of the ruffed grouse West Nile virus (WNV) surveillance project.

Results from the blood samples collected from harvested ruffed grouse in 2019 indicate that 20% of the Wisconsin submitted samples had antibodies consistent with WNV exposure. Of these samples, 9% showed confirmed WNV and 11% showed likely exposure. None of the 188 samples had evidence of the virus present in their hearts.

"These findings indicate that while ruffed grouse are being exposed to WNV, there are birds that are surviving and clearing the virus from their bodies," said Alaina Gerrits, Wisconsin DNR Assistant Upland Game Ecologist.

This collaborative multi-year study aims to provide biologists with more information about WNV exposure and infection in ruffed grouse in the western Great Lakes region. Ruffed grouse harvested in Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin during the 2019 hunting season were sent to the Southeastern Cooperative Wildlife Disease Study in Athens, Georgia, to be analyzed.

"We are grateful to the passionate grouse hunters of Wisconsin who took the time to submit samples from their harvested birds. Without their support, this study would not be possible," said Gerrits.

Hunter-submitted samples underwent two types of testing to help determine if the birds were exposed to WNV. First, a test to look for traces of viral genetic material in heart tissue. And second, a blood test to determine if the grouse had developed an immune response from exposure to the virus. Similar to humans, ruffed grouse can develop antibodies as an immune response to viruses they encounter. When the body fights off WNV, these antibodies can be found in the blood.

In fall 2019, Wisconsin hunters assisted in the collection and submission of 188 of the 752 samples submitted by the three participating states. Hunters who submitted samples and provided contact information will be provided test results via email as soon as possible regardless of whether results were negative or positive.

In 2018, 29% of the 235 samples submitted had antibodies to WNV either confirmed or likely, and two had evidence of the virus present in their hearts. Both of these birds had also developed antibodies to the virus and the results do not directly indicate these two birds were sick at the time of harvest.

The study may help identify future research needs in Wisconsin, such as a potential survival study to investigate sources of mortality, with WNV being one of many stressors examined.

Mosquitos spread WNV and its effects on birds can vary. Signs can range from no clinical disease or illness to heart lesions and inflammation of the brain, the lining of the brain and of the spinal cord. Many factors can influence how severely the virus affects an individual bird. There is no evidence that it can be spread by handling dead birds or by consuming properly cooked game.

In Michigan, West Nile virus exposure from 2019 samples was detected in 8% of the 247 ruffed grouse blood samples with exposure to the virus either confirmed (7 or 3%) or likely (13 or 6%). Viral genetic material was found in one heart sample.

In Minnesota, exposure was detected in 12% of the 317 blood samples submitted. Exposure to the virus either confirmed (3 or 1%) or likely (36 or 11%). Viral genetic material was not found in any of the Minnesota heart samples.

West Nile Virus was first detected in Wisconsin in 2002 and identified in the state's ruffed grouse population in 2018. Although no ruffed grouse were submitted for testing prior to 2018, it is likely that they had been previously exposed to the virus.

For fall 2020, the DNR is relying on hunters who currently possess unused sampling kits from previous years to fill them and send them in for processing. The DNR will not be distributing any new kits this fall due to COVID-19 operational changes. Hunters who have an unused kit and are not able to fill it are encouraged to consider giving it to a friend who can.

The continued focus on habitat management for ruffed grouse is the best method to mitigate potential disease impacts on the population. The Great Lakes region contains some of the most extensive early-successional forest habitat and healthiest ruffed grouse populations in the nation. The Wisconsin DNR is currently working with partners to develop a long-term management strategy for ruffed grouse in Wisconsin.

NAMI provides peer support

Peer support for people dealing with mental health issues is still available from NAMI Northern Lakes, despite the pandemic.

Staff and volunteers of the Northern Lakes Center are holding two sessions weekly via Zoom chats. Participants can attend a virtual meeting either by video chat or telephone.

Peer support has been shown to be an important element in any mental health recovery.

Forest County Commission on Aging Program is wanting to hear from you!

Each month, the newsletter will post one or two questions in hopes of receiving responses from readers. From all responses, a minimum one story will be posted in the following newsletter. We are hoping this will provide some positivity and entertainment during these strange times. If you are uncomfortable with your personal response being shared within the community but still wish to respond, simply request not to have your response published, or if you wish to remain anonymous we will still post it. All responses can be e-mailed to KPaquette@co.forest.wi.us, or can be mailed to Commission on Aging at 200 E. Madison Street, Crandon, WI 54520.

The purpose of these questions is to allow you to share your stories, memories, advice and other unique details that people may not know about you. It is a way to capture your life story one question at a time. Feel free to add additional details and thoughts that the question may trigger, this is your story, make it your own. Add pictures, drawings, poems, or anything you want to help bring the story to life.

This will be a precious and priceless gift to your family, friends, and loved ones. A way for them to know you better and to learn from your valuable life lessons. It's ok to embellish a bit, that makes the stories even more memorable.

Reminiscing about days gone by can have powerful positive effects on your own health. It can help heal past hurts, lighten your heart, honor loved ones, pass along life lessons and give you a sense of pride and purpose.

Enjoy the journey down memory lane and thank you in advance for taking time to pass along your life story as a gift to share across generations.

This month's questions are:
If you were to live your life over again, what is something you would change?
AND/OR
If you were to live your life over again, what is something you would NOT change?

For Old Time's Sake

Monroe Photography snapped this photo back when Lake Lucerne was Stone Lake. He was on the west shore, looking north. The building in the distance was the Uihlein Lodge. The big boathouse is also visible, and when the water is low, the stone foundation of the boathouse is exposed yet today. A lot of Schlitz beer was sold by the Uihleins to build this lodge, complete with a steamboat back in the 1890's, before there was rail service to Crandon.
