Crandon High Drama makes it to state competition

For the first time in the history of Crandon School, the High School Drama Club is heading to state competition for Wisconsin High School Theatre Festival. A group of students have been practicing very hard on every little detail of their 30-minute play. Even on the weekends, they have set up practices to refine their blocking, characterization, and projection. Apparently, all of the early morning, weekend and late night practices have paid off. On Thursday, November 20, this group of talented teens takes off for La Crosse to perform on the stage of Viterbo University.

At sectionals in Oconto Falls, the state director of theatre and forensics, Adam Jacobi, was one of their judges. He stated, "Crandon's show was such a delight to watch last night. I was so captivated by your students' performances, I truly found it difficult to write critiques as I watched... I didn't want to miss anything. Capturing layers of comedy, pacing, and timing are so key, and your production did it quite tightly."

Crandon Library News

Freeze the Gain Forest County

Are you looking for a way to maintain your weight during the hustle and bustle of the upcoming holiday season? Freeze the Gain Forest County is an initiative open to all Forest County residents to help manage weight gain throughout the holiday season. The Crandon Public Library is partnering with the Forest County Coalition for Activity and Nutrition (Forest County CAN!) to bring this opportunity to community members interested in participating in this challenge.

Freeze the Gain encourages participants to maintain or not gain more than two pounds during the challenge, which runs from Nov. 19th through Jan. 7th. Registration for the Forest County Freeze the Gain Challenge and a confidential weigh-in by a health care provider will be held on Wednesday, November 19th at 5:30 p.m. in the lower level of the Crandon Public Library. Participants who weigh-in and weigh-out on Wednesday, January 7th gaining no more than two pounds of their starting weight, will receive a completion award and will be entered into a drawing to win a Fit Bit, a physical fitness tracking device.

Your Opinion Matters!

The Crandon Public Library Board of Trustees is planning for the future of our library and we need your thoughts and opinions on current and future services. Beginning this month, Library staff will be asking people who use the library or visit us online to respond to a short list of questions about library services. The information gathered will be used to establish service goals for the next five years. Outcomes from the survey will be shared with various focus groups in the spring when details of the long range plan are being discussed.

For more information on the library board, our planning process and our library's operations visit our website at www.crandonpl.org.
New Fiction Materials

New adult titles added to the library shelves include Falling From Horses by Molly Gloss, An Island Christmas by Nancy Thayer, Look-alike Lawman by Glynna Kaye, Snow Angel Cove by RaeAnne Thayne and A Frontier Christmas by William W. Johnstone with J.A. Johnstone.

The Crandon Public Library is open six days a week: Monday, Tuesday and Friday 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday 9 a.m. - 7 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. - Noon. Please visit us online at www.crandonpl.org

WHS Drama to present a Horror/Comedy

Wabeno High School Drama will present the one-act horror/comedy, "The Haunting of Hedren House" on Friday, November 14th and Saturday, November 15th. Both shows are at 7 PM at the WHS Auditorium. Tickets for all seats will be $3.00.

"The Haunting of Hedren House" is an original work based on a story created by the WHS cast and adapted into a script by Nick Ireland. The horror story in the play tells the tale of fourteen-year-old Lydia Hedren. Lydia is befriended by Janet Hedren, a distant teenage relative who has been a ghost since the 1870's. When Lydia's older sister and her cheerleading squad begin mistreating Lydia, Janet exacts murderous revenge. The comedy in the play revolves around the ludicrous behavior of the airheaded girls on the cheerleading squad and the often less-than-dignifying ends they meet. "This show is fun and silly, but also a little dark and twisted," says director Nick Lowery. "Our Spring Musical this year will be very much geared toward younger kids, but this show is designed a bit more for older kids and grown-ups."

In a tribute to horror movies, all the female characters are named after either lead actresses or lead female characters in horror or ghost movies. Teagen Bodoh and Kaitlyn Ashbeck play Lydia and Janet Hedren respectively. Abigail Ashbeck plays Lydia's sister, Blair. The cheer squad consists of Jasmine Hanson as cheer captain, Tippi; Olivia Kralovetz as Mina; Kelci Godin as Sissy; Cassidy Ashbeck as Elsa; and Ellie Donaldson as Jamie Lee. Director Nick Lowery appears briefly as Uncle Ethan. Kurt Pence is stage manager, and has helped lead crews from Mr. Pat Lowery's tech-ed classes in building the set. Ian McKenna, Noah Exferd, James Mervyn and Aidan Lowery are the lighting and booth crew.

Haunting keyboard music will be provided by Mrs. Mary Ellen Keller.

Milk in glass bottle available again at Schaefer's IGA

By Mike Monte

Milk in a glass bottle? What a novel idea! Well, no it isn't a new idea. All milk came in glass bottles at one time, until paper cartons and, eventually, plastic bottles. At Schaefer's IGA, you can now get your milk in a glass bottle, and many customers are now opting for Lamer's brand milk at the dairy case.

In the photo above, Jay Schaefer, left, and Jerry Cronce pose for a photo with a bottle of milk. Jerry, Jay found out, was a milkman way back when he was a boy. In fact, the Cronce family milked cows and bottled milk for sale in the Crandon area in the 1930's into the 1940's. Jerry remembered running the milk to the houses when he was nine years-old, while brother Eddie drove the truck. Eddie was about fourteen years-old, but as Jerry said, having a driver's license back then wasn't that important.

Jerry said that they milked cows from two farms, his grandmother's farm and his father's farm. The milk wasn't pasteurized. The business was called Spring Hill Dairy, and was up the hill off of the first corner on Highway 55 as you leave Crandon heading south.

Crandon honors their veterans

Judy Savard addresses the crowd at the Veteran's Dinner

By Boyd Monte

This Veteran's Day was filled with snow and bad roads, but that did not stop Crandon residents from attending the annual dinner at the city hall. The guest speaker was Judy Savard.

Judy said that she was proud to be a veteran. She said that it takes special people to be able to serve their country. She also mentioned that as a woman there were obstacles in the military, but she was able to overcome them and that it made her stronger. Judy thanked all of the veterans that were present and also their families. Without family support, it is almost impossible to serve.

Rob Koplien was introduced as the new Forest County Veteran's Service Officer. Rob said that he is excited to be in the position and looks forward to meeting all of the veterans in Forest County and to help whenever he can.

Paula enjoyed spending time with family, fishing, camping, cooking and shopping and visiting in the local stores.

A private family memorial gathering will be held at a later date. Hildebrand Russ Funeral Home, 24 E. Davenport St. Rhinelander, WI 54501 ~ 715-365-4343. Celebrating lives and healing hearts. All are invited to light a candle, sign the guest book and leave a photo or an online condolence at www.hildebrandrussfh.com.

As a tribute to sustainable forestry and to celebrate the Christmas Season, You are invited to the 2014 PIF Annual Meeting

WHEN: Saturday, December 6, 2014, Noon
PLACE: Big Bear Hideaway
Boulder Junction, WI (Please see www.bigbearhideaway.com for directions)
LUNCH: 12:30 to 1:30 PM

PROGRAM: The Economics of Land Conservation (forest land ownership for the long haul)

Discussion will cover topics such as the economic return of forest land ownership, the financial compensation of growing trees as an investment, long term conservation planning, the Land and Water Conservation Fund and Stewardship Fund necessary to mitigate forest land parcelization, tools for long term planning, tax considerations for protection and transfer of land and much more.

For years we have talked about the importance of land protection, we often say that 'sustainable forestry without conservation considerations is not long sustainable.'

Now is your opportunity to learn more about this ongoing discussion from the experts with decades of experience as well as the experiences of your peers in attendance.

THE PANEL IS TO INCLUDE:

John Schwarzmann, PIF Vice President, the Forest Supervisor of the Board of Commissioners of Public lands, who has long time experience in sustainable management and conservation. John will advise on timely harvests and proper management to achieve the highest value in the long term and discuss the economic maturity of different species for the highest return.

Richard Steffes, retired from an almost 40 year career with WDNR real estate and more recently a citizen lobby advocate for the LWCF. Dick is the one who negotiated most of the major WDNR acquisitions in recent decades including the large Forest Legacy easements using LWCF and Stewardship funding. If you have questions on this scale of land conservation he is a good one to ask.

Geary N. Searfoss, CPA, with a long career in forestry and tax accounting. Geary has been an active consulting forester and an accountant specializing in forestry tax issues. If you have questions about estate transfers, gifting, 1031 exchanges, fair taxation, etc., Geary can help you.

And special guest Matt Dallman, Director of Conservation Nature Conservancy Wisconsin.

SPECIAL GUEST:

As a fun sideline, and to insure we do keep this event casual, we will have special guest Bob Moody, award winning home brewer, licensed to share his beers with us.

Please RSVP no later than December 2, 2014, by contacting:

Joe Hovel - Tel: 715-479-8528 email: partnersinforesstry@gmail.com

Rod Sharka: Tel: 715-547-6493 email: resharka@gmail.com

Cost per person: $12 to cover food and non-alcoholic drink expenses *

* Other expenses for this annual meeting are covered by PIF and our partners like UW Center for Cooperatives with their generous grant supporting our mission, USFS State and Private Forestry, WDNR and Wisconsin BCPL who all continually assist with with educational material.

The conversation turned to the days when all milk was in glass bottles, and when you drank milk, it was from a local dairy and local farmers. This has certainly changed. The question arose as to how many, if any, dairy farmers are still operating in Forest County?

Crandon had a creamery that didn't survive the 1950's. My memories of milk go back to the Argonne Dairy, which closed in about 1964. A little after 6:00 a.m., the door opened and the rattle of glass bottles in a metal carrier woke you up. Joe the Milkman was in the kitchen, opened the refrigerator and checked out your needs. Whatever you were out of or close to it, was replaced. The freezer door was opened to see if the Huebner's French vanilla ice cream was getting low. George Huebner, who later moved to Crandon, was making this ice cream in, I think, Embarrass, Wisconsin, and Marv Guth, owner of Argonne Dairy, sold it from his milk trucks. The milkman came every other day, and the Argonne Dairy delivered milk to towns as far away as Minocqua, Eagle River, Lakewood, and even in Land O' Lakes.

In Laona, Alderton Dairy was producing milk for the locals. In an interview with Felix Alderton, he said that during the depression they had no market for their milk until the Civilian Conservation Corps came to the area. They bought a small dairy out downstate, moved the equipment to a building on the Alderton farm and put in bids to supply milk for the many camps in this area. Felix said they pasteurized their milk. He said at first, they weren't sure if it was properly pasteurized or not, but eventually learned, and the milk was hauled to the camps in pint bottles, checks came in, and everyone breathed a little easier.

Jay Schaefer says there are customers who swear that the milk in glass bottles tastes better. He said you should be the judge of that. The glass-bottled milk is available in Crandon and in the Country Store in Pearson. There is a $1.50 deposit on the bottles that is refunded when they are brought back to the store, and they are redeemable in either store. The cost is slightly more than milk in plastic containers.

The Scoop on Energy Drinks

Getting revved up on energy drinks day after day may have health consequences. The primary concern is that such beverages are high in caffeine and other stimulants designed to boost mental or physical performance.

The caffeine amount ranges from 80 to 175 milligrams (mg) per 8-ounce serving; some containers have multiple servings. The maximum amount the FDA considers safe in cola-style beverages is 71 mg per 12 ounces. For comparison, an average 8-ounce cup of coffee has 130 mg, a 16-ounce latte averages 240 mg, and a 12-ounce cola averages 37 mg.

When choosing your drink, check labels for the caffeine amount. However, not all drinks list caffeine content as the FDA does not require it on product labels, so you may not have a clear understanding of what's in the drink or its impact. Also keep in mind that:

- Energy drinks are often used as mixer with alcohol, especially by young people. The stimulants in energy drinks can mask intoxication, reducing one's awareness of their effects.
- Their stimulating effects can boost heart rate and blood pressure, contribute to dehydration and, like other stimulants, prevent sleep.
- They are linked to at least 34 deaths and numerous hospitalizations.
- They should not be used while exercising; the combination of fluid loss from sweating and the diuretic effect of caffeine can lead to severe hydration.

Watch your sensitivity to these drinks, educate your children about the risks and don't over consume them.

In Loving Memory
Shirley (Elick) Johns
November 19, 2012

We're missing you a little more
Each time we hear your name
We've cried so many tears
Yet our heart's broken just the same.
We miss our times together
Things in common we would share
But nothing fills the emptiness
Now that you're no longer there.
We've so many precious memories
to last our whole life through
Each one of them reminders
Of how much we're missing you.

INSURANCE TIP
HOME OWNER'S FORM III

There are several different types of homeowner's policies and the wording and coverages vary from each company.

Generally speaking, Form 3 coverage is the best coverage for most homes. It covers all direct physical loss to the structure with a few exclusions, such as: flood, earthquake and normal wear and tear. Be aware, though, that coverage for your contents is not quite as comprehensive. Accidental damage or breakage to contents is usually not covered. Some companies do offer all risk contents policies. Don't forget to ask your agent about Replacement Cost Guarantee!
